	“In The Soft Light of This Flame” by Rev. Scott Tayler
	In the soft light of this flame, may we see life anew. May the supposedly real seem less solid. May the inevitable reveal its carefully concealed cracks. It’s all made of pieces and parts, friends, each of them longing to be rearranged. Or maybe it’s a story, and the pen is in our hand.

Benediction

Rev. Alex

*The timeless in you is aware of life's timelessness.
And knows that yesterday is but today's memory
and tomorrow is today's dream.
~Kahlil Gibran*

~excerpt from post by enfleshed from theopoet Rubem Alves

*...we are dreams which became bodies.
And if people are going to struggle and to fight
it is necessary for them to be rocked back to life from their oblivion, and this happens when they are able to dream again.
And dreams have always to do with desires.
It is necessary for people to be able to dream again
about beautiful things,
about utopias,
about a new world,
because when people are able to dream again
they will be transfigured,
they will be resurrected,
they will be able to fight."*

▲ CHALICE EXTINGUISHING

Please join us in our words to extinguish the chalice:
As we go forth, may we carry the flame of Love, and Peace with Justice. Until we meet again, Blessed be!
